

Dr. Charles J. Cicchetti is a Senior Advisor at Navigant Consulting, Inc. and has been a partner at Pacific Economics Group, L.L.C. (PEG). He formerly was a Professor of Economics and Environmental Studies at the University of Wisconsin, Deputy Director of the Harvard Energy and Environmental Policy Center, and held the Jeffrey and Pamela Miller Chair in Government, Business, and the Economy at the University of Southern California.

He has performed post-doctoral research at Resources for the Future (RFF) (1969-1972), served as the first economist for the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF) (1971-1975). Dr. Cicchetti became head of the Wisconsin Energy Office and Chaired the Wisconsin Public Service Commission in the mid-1970s. In 1980, Dr. Cicchetti returned to academic life and has started three different economic consulting firms in his career. His clients have included utilities, energy companies, consumer advocates and environmentalists. He has written numerous books and articles on energy and environmental economics and policies. He has testified on economic and environmental matters worldwide. His work for the World Bank has furthered worldwide consideration of sustainable economic, energy, and environmental policy as well as Independent Power Projects (IPPs) with Build, Own, Operate, and Transfer (BOOT) implementation. He currently is engaged in a number of jurisdictions explaining how to reform regulation to accommodate energy efficiency, renewable energy and industry restructuring. He is also writing a new book entitled "A Primer on Energy Efficiency" for Public Utility Reports (PUR).